InterActive Teams

Involve participants in a series of fun activities that promote team skills and mindsets for working collaboratively across work areas in an organization. Participants interact in a team of up to twelve, which is paired with another team, and then sets out to conquer a challenge in which they share the same goal. The program is customized with activities you select for the schedule. A 4.5 hour schedule, for example, allows for three challenge activities, and a lively action planning session at the end to identify shared strategies for working together in the future. Numbers: minimum 16 people; no upper limit; Hours: 3 to 8.

The ROPES Challenge Course

There are three activity areas on a Ropes Challenge Course:

- Team Initiatives are focused on effective team problem solving. Team leadership skills are challenged to get everyone doing their part in this intense fast paced format. Both team strengths and areas for further development are identified. This format can be conducted indoors in the event of inclement weather.

- Low Ropes build esprit de corps and involve shared trust, risk taking, mutual support, and effective communication while involved in activities a few feet off the ground.

- High Ropes involve individual challenges that require balance, swinging, or leaping among structures 40 feet in the air. It is an exciting confidence builder and is done in an environment of support from one's team mates.

For any activity area, programs range from 3 hours to 3 days. Involve from 5 to over 50 people operating in smaller activity teams.

Team Tournaments

Great teamwork and collective sparks of brilliance are demonstrated by the most entertaining and successful teams in one of our Team Tournament formats. Teams show their smarts by producing great solutions to off beat challenges in one of our three formats - Bridge Builders, Eggs In Space, or Mega Teams. Each is a great platform to demonstrate effective team skills and to develop lasting relationships. If you have at least 3 hours and 30 people, a Team Tournament is sure to be a popular activity for your next gathering.

Movie Studio

A Movie Studio is typically a day long process that involves teams in the design and shooting of a short movie in the morning, editing it in the afternoon, and then holding a film festival with "Oscar" like awards in the late afternoon or at dinner. In the afternoon, while one or two people from each team work with a Team Craft staff to edit the productions, other team members can participate in a City Sleuths or Teams Tournament program. The movies can be on important themes for the company, yet often include a lot of humor and clever twists that are fun to see. Afterwards, Team Craft provides a CD of the movies to share among participants. An alternate schedule can do the planning and shooting in the afternoon and show the videos the following day.

Raft Craft

Raft Craft is a lightly competitive activity conducted on a beach or large pool. The challenges: first, design and build a raft using a wild mix of unusual floatable materials, and then race the contraption in a competitive sprint. Have fun with plenty of room for creativity, whimsical good humor, and high spirited racing. It's also a great way to beat the heat on a hot day.

City Sleuths

City Sleuths is a fun riddle solving activity that is Team Craft's upgrade to a scavenger or treasure hunt as a team building activity. Teams have from four to six participants and compete to score the most points by finding answers to riddles among the curious, historic, and entertaining elements of a city district. A three hour version ends after one round with scoring answers, and a short debrief. A four and one-half hour version includes two rounds of riddle solving and greater team learning. Winning teams receive medals or award cups and bragging rights. Everyone gets a memento of the experience.

Trail Blazers

Trail Blazers is conducted in a large park suitable for overland map and compass orienteering. Small teams of four to six participants crisscross each other's paths while searching for assigned waypoint locations. At these target locations they obtain riddles and coded messages they need to unravel to solve a final challenge as one large team at the end. Teams are trying to contribute to a big win. At times, teams join up to solve a shared mini-challenge. The experience is a real adventure; it's stimulating and unpredictable in fun ways. Teams use GPS derived distance and coordinate data to pinpoint their target destinations. The program lasts from five to eight hours including orientation and debrief/action planning at the end. Participants can number from 24 to over 200
